

REPORT & QUESTIONS BY SOME BROTHERS

(1) 28 October 2010: LANCEWOOD HAM FLAVOURED COTTAGE CHEESE

Sent by the Brothers to SANHA Halaal Helpline: "Subject – SANHA Certified Ham Flavours - Assalamu Alaikum respected Brothers, We found this very disturbing. SANHA certified product that purports to be Ham Flavoured - Lancewood Cottage Cheese. Kindly advise on the situation and the stance of SANHA with due regards. Please find attached pictures taken with my cell phone. The product was seen in a Checkers store on Sunday 24th October 2010. I tried to find the batch number but there was none."

We (The Majlis) wrote to the Brother for further information. The Brother responded as follows: "I personally observed this product at Checkers Newcastle. It has a SANHA logo on it. I wrote to SANHA and below is their reply:

"Indeed, it is an embedded policy of SANHA that any 'product name' which has a connotation with Haraam cannot be considered for Halal certification. The matter has been reported to us and our Cape Town office have addressed the deviation with Lancewood. This has been an error on the part of their printer which we concur is not acceptable."

(2) " On 4 November 2010 my wife went shopping to do some grocery buying at Shoprite in Port Elizabeth. Cottage cheese is one of our favourites. During the course of the day, after I had some cottage-cheese sandwiches which did not taste good as usual, I assumed that the cheese was not fresh. Imagine my consternation when I examined the tub to check for the expiry date. I could not believe the filth I had consumed. The words: HAM FLAVOURED, shocked the guts out of me. This was not enough. When my eyes beheld the SANHA HALAAL LOGO, my heart missed a beat, and my fury had no limits. Losing my temper, I said extremely harsh words to my wife, using even haraam expletives. She responded that she thought the cheese was halaal because it had SANHA's logo, and that the word 'ham' must just have been a name, not real pork. A heated exchange followed between us in which I reviled her and SANHA. In consequence, my marriage has been rocked severely. We are now estranged. My wife has gone to her parents. Will it be permissible in the Shariah for me to sue SANHA for the trauma, the break-up of my marriage, the violation of my religious rights and feelings, etc.?"

ANSWER

BROTHERS! While this rotten, stinking, carrion affair is lamentable, shocking and disgusting, it is not at all surprising. The Muslim public is dealing with the flagship of the MAITAH (CARRION) CORPORATION, viz. SANHA. Carrion-Halaalizing is the only profession of this contemptible organization. SANHA's self-defence with its stock response of 'error' mocks the intelligence of Muslims. This miserable argument of 'error' is the justification which SANHA has perennially advanced for several of its pork-pig-ham-vark debacles. These 'errors' have seen Muslims devouring SANHA's 'halaal' pork. This is not the first kind of the 'halaal' pig-errors.

Another Brother wrote informing us of SANHA's Radio Shaitaan attempt to salvage its carrion image on this ham issue. The planned and doctored question aired on Radio Shaitaan states: "There is a SANHA logo on some products including Smoked Ham. Is this an error?"

(Note: The 'error' gimmick has been designed specifically to water-down the gravity of the carrion-pork certification notoriety.). Responding, to this SANHA's question, SANHA's spokesman, said: "Yes, this is one of those errors that we are addressing immediately. Alhamdulillah. So, err err they are discontinuing this packaging err err err all future packaging on this product will be without the SANHA logo."

SANHA has absolutely no skin left on its carrion face. Note the following deception and incongruencies:

(1) That the 'errors' would be addressed "immediately". This assurance was announced by SANHA on Radio Shaitaan (The Devil's Appendage) about two weeks ago. Yet on 4 November 2010, SANHA's certified HAM was still on the shelves of the supermarkets COUNTRYWIDE, and it will remain there until every confounded tub of vark is sold- and who knows how many Muslims have already devoured the pig product, and how many more will still ruin their Imaan by ingesting the SANHA certified 'halaal' HAM!!!

It should be well understood that these big non-Muslim business entrepreneurs don't care two hoots – they don't care a damn for the flabby and obsequious whimper of 'objection' which the carrion purveyor makes. These firms have fully understood that the carrion halaalizers are only after money, hence they take no notice of their feeble 'complaints' In fact, the non-Muslim firms who hold the haraam 'halaal' certificates of these Carrion Halaalizers scoff, scorn and mock at these spineless 'Muslim' bodies whom they are paying huge sums of riba for carrion licensing certificates.

The fact that two weeks after SANHA was alerted of its halaalized HAM, the position remains the same, testifies to the deception and utter worthlessness of the "immediate" assurance given by SANHA via its mouthpiece, Radio Devil.

(2) SANHA has abortively tried to gloss over the gravity of this issue by dismissing it as "one of those errors". Yet, it is one of those errors which is responsible for pork consumption by Muslims. On the basis of the SANHA logo, Muslims have been and are still consuming the halaalized VARK.

(3) The recurrence of such deliberate 'errors' is uncontrollable. It has happened in the past with several haraam products. It is happening right now, and it will continue to occur on a regular basis. It is humanly impossible to monitor millions of items which the vile Carrion Clique is halaazing.

(4) There is ABSOLUTELY NO MUSLIM SUPERVISION at these carrion processing plants. There is ABSOLUTELY NO PERMANENT MUSLIM SUPERVISION at any of these factories and processing plants. There is NO so-called Halaal Chain of which the Carrion Bodies speak and deceive Muslims. Muslims have become addicted to devouring numerous haraam products on the basis of the 'halaal' logos of the Carrion Certifiers.

(5) The thousands of tubs of SANHA's halaalized HAM will NOT be removed from the shelves. The PIG products will not be thrown to the dogs or rats by the business world. Every tub of ham will be sold. The fact that two weeks after being made aware, the supermarkets are still selling the 'halaalized' HAM should be sufficient proof for this.

(6) If SANHA truly had a full-proof system of supervision and inspection, it would have detected the 'error' the very day when the first tub of vark went on to the supermarket shelves. While several haraam products certified by SANHA had been discovered, every discovery was made by a member of the public.

THE ONLY SOLUTION FOR THIS PERENNIAL CARRION PROBLEM IS TO ABSTAIN FROM CONSUMING THE CARRION WHICH THESE HARAAM HALAALIZING ORGANIZATIONS CERTIFY.
