

MUSLIM CONSUMPTION OF PORK NO LONGER SHOCKING - NO LONGER NEWSWORTHY

Decades of devouring satanically 'halaalized' carrion chickens, carrion meat and even PORK in the form of ingredients in satanically 'halaalized' junk 'foodstuff', has desensitized, not only the palates of the masses, but also their Imaan. Thus, revelations of the pork content in the junk 'foods' hardly irks the devourers of carrion and rubbish junk termed 'food'.

The latest PORK revelation is the discovery of some PORK ingredients in some of Cadbury's chocolates which Muslims devour with utmost relish, destroying their health and Imaan in the process. The PORK was discovered by the Ministry of Health in Malaysia. The report in this regard states:

"The traces (of PORK) were found during a periodic check for non-halaal ingredients in food products by the Ministry of Health, which on Saturday said two of three samples of the company's products contained pork traces, the website said.

The two products, Cadbury Dairy Milk Hazelnut and Cadbury Dairy Milk Roast Almond, were readily available in stores throughout the country, Nikkel said."

The salient aspects of this haraam PORK-CHOCOLATE debacle on which concerned Muslims should reflect are:

- (1) The PORK discovery was made during a 'periodic check'. There was no prior suspicion which necessitated an inspection of the PORK chocolates.
- (2) Only three samples were tested. Cadbury has hundreds of chocolate and sweet brands which have NOT been tested.
- (3) These chocolates are sold by the ton, not only in Malaysia, but the world over.
- (4) Prior to the PORK discovery, Muslims in Malaysia and all over the world were consuming these PORK chocolates.
- (5) Currently, even 'pious' and concerned Muslims are continuing to devour these PORK chocolates. Millions of Muslims are still unaware of the PORK content in these chocolates. It will take considerable time for the news to filter through in order to reach every Muslim who consume these haraam PORK chocolates.

Furthermore, any claim that the PORK problem is restricted to Cadbury's chocolates in Malaysia should be dismissed with contempt and regarded as an audacious attempt to bamboozle and hoodwink Muslims. And, only Muslims whose Imaan has been incorrigibly tarnished with PORK and CARRION will swallow this fiction which will be invented for the deglutition of moron Muslims who are addicted to 'halaalized" carrion and PORK.

The disease of PORK and other haraam ingredients in a myriad of junk 'foods', sweets, chocolates and commercial biscuits is endemic. All of these commercial, processed products are littered with a plethora of ingredients – haraam and mushtabah – camouflaged with lengthy, unpronounceable chemical names and mysterious E-numbers – poisons compounded with poisons, culminating in the long term in a host of serious maladies such as cancer, diabetes, kidney failure, liver-malfunctioning, blood pressure, etc., etc.

It is Waajib for Muslims to show mercy to their souls and bodies by abstaining from these destructive physical and spiritual poisons. Never accept the vile ‘assurances’ of manufacturers and of these evil ‘halaal’ certificate vendors whose primary objective is the haraam boodle which has fattened their bodies which will be fuel for Jahannam. Rasulullah (sallallahu alayhi wasallam) said: “The Fire has greater claim over a body nourished by Haraam.”

In a damage-control stupid, misleading exercise to befuddle Muslims, the company ‘assured’ “The company said it was undertaking a full review of its supply chain to ensure halal standards.....”

Such hollow and deceptive assurances should be contemptuously dismissed. The indisputable fact is that the chocolates contained PORK. From whence did the PORK come? PORK ingredients are the cheapest and according to the convoluted brains of manufacturers, such ingredients produce the best results. How is it ever possible for Muslims to place any reliance on the word of entrepreneurs whose existence on earth is regulated only by the objective of making money? Money is their god. It is their all. How is it also possible for Muslims to accept the word of these vile mercenary carrion-halaalization outfits who trade in haraam so-called ‘halaal’ certificates which in terms of the Shariah are pure scraps of worthless papers designed to hoodwink the Muslim masses?

Just examine the formidable lists of ingredients on the wrappers of all processed products. Only minds which are the victims of intellectual and spiritual stultification will fail to discern the poisons listed.

ALL SWEETS, CHOCOLATES, BISCUITS AND SOFT DRINKS COMMERCIALY PRODUCED ARE HARAAM. CONSUME THIS POISONOUS JUNK AT THE PERIL OF YOUR HEALTH AND DESTRUCTION OF YOUR MORAL AND SPIRITUAL FIBRE.
