KHATAM IN ONE NIGHT

The objective of Ibaadat is the Pleasure of Allah Ta'ala. It is haraam to advertise a man's private ibaadat. If Yusuf Jassat is aware of the advert but does not prevent it, then it indicates Riya.

Ibaadat stemming from riya is shirk-e-asghar (the lesser shirk). Instead of thawaab, there is athaab for such mock 'ibaadat'.

If a man sincerely desires to make khatam of the Qur'aan Majeed in one night in Salaat or out of Salaat, it should be a secret between himself and Allah Ta'ala. It is haraam and most despicable to advertise it. Why have they advertised this act? What benefit is discerned in the advert? Is it Sunnah to make khatam of a Qur'aan in Taraaweeh in one night?

Today, the Deen is utilized for purposes of aggrandizement. The dunya is pursued with acts of the Aakhirat. In the Hadith this is mentioned as a sign of Qiyaamah. May Allah Ta'ala save us from the evils of the nafs and the snares of shaitaan.
