

SANHA THE EXPERT PORK HALAALIZER

QUESTION

Please find attached picture of chips and explanation given by SANHA for the permissibility of the HAM flavour in the chips. Are these HAM-flavoured chips halaal?

ANSWER

Rasulullah (Sallallahu alayhi wasallam) said: "Seek a fatwa from your heart." If the Muslim's heart has not been darkened and convoluted with the addiction of haraam carrion, pork and the like of satanic food, then the fatwa which will emanate from a healthy Imaan will be adequate for guidance regardless of any corrupt, zig zag fatwa any mufti issues to halaalize the HAM favour or any other haraam ingredient of which there is a deluge in all commercial products halaalized by the haraam, shaitaani carrion-certifying outfits such as SANHA, MJC, NIHT, etc.

SANHA's explanation of 'synthetic' pork, bacon and ham will soothe the Devil and his progeny. It does not satisfy those whose Imaan is intact and untarnished by carrion consumption. The questioner says:

“According to SANHA this was not fraudulent usage of their logo as the product uses synthetic ham flavouring and is produced in a SANHA certified plant.”

The whole certifying mess is a massive FRAUD akin to kufr. While this jaahil, zindeeq SANHA group of carrion halaalizers does “not permit the logo to be appended on any product which has connotation with Haraam such as ham, bacon, etc.’, the pork substance is produced in a SANHA-certified plant. What happens in these certified plants is the action of Iblees. The claim of supervision by any of these carrion juhala is a massive LIE. Haraam ingredients are utilized in almost all ‘halaal’ certified products.

The appearance of the HAM ingredient on the packets of haraam chips is not a mistake. These satanic ‘mistakes’ are a recurring issue. When consumers discover the ‘mistake’, then only will SANHA come to know of it. In the numerous cases of malpractice ‘mistakes’, the discoveries were made by only consumers, never by SANHA’s so-called supervisors. The claim of supervision is a satanic lie and rubbish.

If the satanic ‘halaal’ SANHA logo is not permitted by SANHA to appear on packets if the product contains synthetic HAM, then by what logic does SANHA certify the plants where such HAM is produced? The convolution of SANHA’s illogical principle is the effect of the crave for haraam boodle which is extracted from entrepreneurs against their volition.

Sight should not be lost from the fact that the so-called synthetic HAM does have the flavour and odour of real VARK (SWINE FLESH). Minus these essential pork-aligning attributes, ham-flavour will be meaningless. Even if the satanic food of synthetic HAM is without any real pig ingredient, it will be HARAAM to consume it. It is haraam for a man to say that he is having sexual relations with a prostitute when the woman is his wife. If at the time of sexual indulgence with his wife, he ruminates on another woman, then this ‘synthetic’ sex with the prostitute in mind will be recorded as zina in his Book of Deeds by the Recording Angel.

SANHA and the conglomeration of other carrion halaalizing outfits have absolutely no valid argument for certifying the meat and chicken establishments of the kuffaar. Their only valid shaitaani argument to soothe themselves is the boodle factor. For the sake of haraam monetary gain, they have ruined the Imaan of ignorant Muslims, their own Imaan and have driven themselves towards the precincts of kufr with their brazen and blatant violation of Allah’s commands.

Muslims who devour the meat, chicken, chip and other such products certified by SANHA and the other shayaateen outfits, have no valid argument to justify their haraam consumption. On the Day of Qiyaamah, passing the blame to SANHA will be of no avail.

“And, eat from the wholesome and lawful (halaal and tayyib) foods which Allah has provided for you, and fear Allah in Whom you believe.”

(Al-Maaidah, Aayat 88)

20 Zil Hajj 1440 – 22 August 2019