WESTERN EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTES ARE OUTFITS OF SATANISM, FILTH & OBSCENITY

A SHOCKING HORRENDOUS SUB-SATANIC ACT

HELL IN THE SCHOOL BATHROOM: GRADE 8 LEARNER'S NIGHTMARE AT LEIDEN HIGH

A Traumatizing Welcome: A New Student's Second-Day Horror

What was supposed to be an exciting new chapter for a 14-year-old boy at Leiden High School in Delft turned into an unimaginable nightmare when he was ambushed and humiliated by bullies in the school's bathroom.

Just two days after enrolling at the school, the learner, whose name is withheld for his dignity, was forced into a toilet cubicle, had his head pushed into a faeces-filled bowl, and was smeared with human waste by four older students.

Adding insult to injury, other learners took pictures of him in his distress, spreading the images among students and on social media, turning the vicious act into a public spectacle of humiliation.

A Mother's Horror: "I Found My Son Sitting Next to a Dustbin"

When his devastated mother arrived at the school, she was met with a scene that no parent should ever have to endure—her son, still covered in human waste, sitting next to a dustbin while students continued to take pictures of him.

"What upsets me even more is that these children have started to distribute these pictures," she said. Instead of swift intervention from school leadership, she had to bring fresh clothes before her son was even allowed to clean himself in the staffroom—without a word of support from the principal, Mr. Jasper.

Since the incident, the school has failed to take decisive action, leaving the mother frustrated and battling to get answers. Despite CCTV cameras near the bathrooms, the school has yet to use them to identify all the perpetrators.

The Aftermath: A Broken Child and a System That Fails Victims

The impact of the barbaric attack has left deep emotional scars. The once vibrant and energetic Grade 8 learner has now become withdrawn, rarely playing outside as he used to.

“He’s always in the house with me now, and that’s so unlike him,” his mother shared. “He’s not the same child anymore, and he’s even having nightmares.”

The emotional trauma is evident, but despite the serious psychological toll, the Western Cape Education Department’s initial response was shocking—asking the child to return to the school for counseling, an act described by an activist as “like asking a rape victim to return to the crime scene.”

Justice Delayed? How Authorities and the School Are Handling the Case

While the Western Cape Education Department claims that an investigation is underway, activists and community members are outraged by the lack of immediate action. The School Governing Body (SGB) has yet to take meaningful steps, and the alleged bullies have remained absent from school, avoiding accountability.

Equal Education activist Vanessa le Roux condemned the indifference shown by both the school and the authorities, stating:

“There was no humanity, no comfort, nothing. On Friday, local police even refused to open a case until we involved Provincial South African Police Services (SAPS).”

After persistent pressure, an officer has finally been assigned to ensure that a criminal case is opened and justice is served.

Calls for Action: “This Cannot Happen Again”

This harrowing case raises serious questions about bullying, school safety, and the failure of institutions to protect vulnerable children.

While the Education Department has arranged psychological support and is assisting with a school transfer for the victim, many believe this is not enough. The lack of immediate accountability for the perpetrators and the school’s apparent negligence have ignited community outrage.

COMPULSORY CONTRACEPTIVES BECAUSE OF THE SPIRALLING TEENAGE PREGNANCIES

On Thursday 16 January, an article was published in which Gauteng MEC for Health Nomantu Nkomo-Ralehoko was quoted saying that girl learners in Gauteng will essentially be forced to get contraceptive implants in their arms, as long as their parents give consent.

The article was titled “Gauteng Health to ask permission for Implanon implants to prevent teen pregnancy”.

Such an approach to curbing teenage pregnancy is misguided and unlawful. What is particularly concerning and would amount to an egregious violation of constitutional rights, reminiscent of coerced and forced sterilisation, is the MEC's decision to make the contraceptive Implanon, an implant, compulsory for learners based only on parental consent and not the consent of the learner.

Any attempt to forcefully administer contraceptives to young women and girls undermines their constitutional rights to bodily integrity and autonomy and concurrently constitutes gender-based violence and common law assault. (End of report)

It is this satanic western education imparted in immoral institutions worse than brothels, which most Muslims all over the world are pursuing in total and wanton disregard of the ruin and destruction to Islamic morality and Imaan. These are the Satanist or sub-satanist institutions to which Muslims compel even their daughters to attend.

Let these rubbish so-called Muslim parents understand that they are in reality guilty of not only fisq/fujoor, but also guilty of kufr for sending especially their daughters to schools and especially to universities where they become denuded of Akhlaaq and robbed of Imaan. They are sent to these vilest of institutions to prostitute themselves and to deracinate their Imaan.

The misdirected objective for sending girls to universities is the monetary goal. These Muslim parents do not believe in the Razzaaqiyat (Providence) of Allah Ta'ala, hence they are satanically constrained to send their girls to western educational brothels in the hope of securing the future monetary goals of their children. It is this attitude which is kufr, and which effaces the already diluted Imaan of the parents.

Rasulullah (Sallallahu alayhi wasallam) said: "Rizq has been predetermined, and the one of greed is deprived." That is: regardless what is done and not done, effort or no effort, expertise or no expertise, business acumen or no acumen, intelligence or stupidity, the RIZQ which has already been decreed for a person will neither increase nor decrease. Morons whose Imaan is on the precipice of destruction usually say: "Rizq will not fall through the roof." On the strength of the Qur'aan and Hadith, we say: Most assuredly it will fall through the roof.

The One Who has created the mouth, will feed it. Rasulullah (Sallallahu alayhi wasallam) said: "If you have perfect tawakkul (trust) on Allah, He will feed you as He feeds the birds. They leave their nests in the morning hungry. By evening they return fully satiated."

Thus, the motive for the satanically insane craving to send Muslim children to western educational brothels is kufr – lack of belief in the Assurance given by Allah Ta'ala to feed His creation in the way and quantity He has ordained.

"There is not a living creature, but its Rizq is the responsibility of Allah." (Qur'aan)
